RAJYA SABHA

The following Bills were introduced in the Rajya Sabha on the 18th August, 2000.

I

BILL No. XXXIV OF 2000

A Bill further to amend the Constitution of India.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-first Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Constitution (Amendment) Act, 2000.

Short title and commencement.

(2) It shall come into force at once.

2. In clause (4) of article 80 of the Constitution, after the words "single transferable vote" the words "and the voting shall be by open ballot" shall be inserted.

Amendment of article 80.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Rajya Sabha has a very important role to play in the Governance of the country. It is unfortunate that lately we have been witnessing the role of Money power in Rajya Sabha elections. It is high time that such things are brought to an end. Any Act, which diminishes the credibility of our democratic institutions, will ultimately harm the democracy in this country.

The matter may be widely discussed before a final decision. In this context it is suggested that an open ballot system should be introduced so far as elections to the Rajya Sabha are concerned. An open ballot system to the Rajya Sabha elections can certainly protect the fundamentals of the democratic system of our country.

Hence this Bill.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The area commonly referred as the North Eastern Region comprising "seven sisters" viz. the states of Assam, Nagaland, Manipur, Tripura, Meghalaya, Mizoram and Arunachal Pradesh, is a extremely backward and under-developed hilly region. The Region also consists of many tribal areas and population who have not yet seen the light of civilisation. There are no adequate infrastructure facilities such as roads, power, rail, communication etc. in the absence of which it is not possible to accelerate the growth and development of this Region.

In order to step up the tempo of development of the Region at a faster pace, it is deemed necessary to set up a special agency for the purpose to be known as Development Board comprising of the representatives of the Union and the seven State Governments. A special provision is therefore, proposed to be made in article 371 of the Constitution to achieve this object.

Hence this Bill.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 2 of the Bill seeks to insert a new article 371J in the Constitution of India to provide for the establishment of a Development Board with respect to the North Eastern Region. Clause 5 of the proposed new article 371J of the Constitution further provides that the Central Government would make available adequate funds for implementation of the various projects of the Development Board. The Bill therefore, if enacted would involve an estimated annual recurring expenditure of about Rupees Four Thousand Crores from the Consolidated Fund of India.

The share of the States to the development projects will be met by the State Governments from the respective Consolidated Funds of the States.

III*BILL No. XXXVII OF 2000

A Bill to amend the Prevention of Insults to National Honour Act, 1971.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-first Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the Prevention of Insults to National Honour (Amendment) Act, 2000.	Short title.
For section 3 of the Prevention of Insults to National Honour Act, 1971, the following section shall be substituted, namely:—	Substitution of Section 3 of Act 69 of 1971.
2. Whoever intentionally prevents the singing of the Indian National Anthem or the Indian National song, as the case may be, or causes disturbance to any assembly engaged in such singing shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years or with fine which may extend to ten thousand rupees or with both.	Penalty for prevention of Indian National Anthem or National song.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The founding fathers of the Constitution of India while adopting "Jana Gana Mana" as composed by Gurudev Rabindra Nath Tagore as the National Anthem of India gave an equal status to the song "Vande Mataram" as composed by Shri Bankim Chandra Chatterjee by recognising it as our national song since it played an inspiring role in the struggle for Indian independence.

Whereas the Prevention of Insults to National Honour Act, 1971 provides for punishment to any person who intentionally prevents the singing of the Indian National Anthem or causes disturbance to any assembly engaged in such singing but there is no provision about insults to the National Song. The punishment presently prescribed is also mild.

It will, therefore, be appropriate to provide penalty for the intentional prevention of the singing of the Indian National Anthem or the National Song Vande Mataram or causing disturbance to any assembly engaged in such singing, and to make the penalty stiffer.

The Bill seeks to achieve these objectives.

Guwahati High Court at Silchar*

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-first Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

Establishment of a permanent Bench of the Guwahati High Court at Silchar.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The area known as "Barak Valley" is a land locked area which does not have good communications system to facilitate journey to Guwahati which is presently the seat of Guwahati High Court. It will be of benefit to the people of the Northern Assam if a small bench of the Court is set up at Silchar the interest of cheap and speedy justice for the convenience of litigant public.

BILL NO. XLV OF 2000

A Bill further to amend the Constitution of India.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-first Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Constitution (Amendment) Act, 2000.

Short title and
commencement.

(2) It shall come into force with immediate effect.

2. In clause (1) of article 29 of the Constitution,

Amendment of article 29.

(i) after the words “conserve the same” the following shall be inserted, namely:—

“and the State shall protect the life, property, places of worship, holy literature of such section of citizens without any discrimination”.

(ii) the existing clause (2) shall be renumbered as clause (3) and before the clause so renumbered, the following clause shall be inserted, namely:—

(2) Nothing in this article shall prevent the State from imposing compulsory total ban on any fundamentalist organisation which indulges in violence against any religious minority forthwith and confiscate all its properties, both movable and immovable.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

In many parts of the country, some fundamentalist organisations are terrorising the religious minorities particularly the christians by attacking them and in many cases killing them, torching their houses, places of worship and holy books. Even the educational institutions belonging to the religious minorities are being attacked and the minorities are living in constant fear and uncertainty. The protection of minorities has, therefore, to be included in the fundamental rights and duty has to be imposed on the State for their protection. The State should also ban the organisations and confiscate their properties which indulge in violence against the minorities. If this provision is included as fundamental right, the minorities may also approach the Courts of law for their protection and also seek ban on fundamentalist organisations.

Hence this Bill.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The preamble of the Constitution assures social and economic justice, equality of status and of opportunity to every citizen and Article 38 imposes duty on the state to strive to promote welfare of the people by securing and protecting effective social order in which social and economic justice shall inform all the institutions of the national life in particular strive to and endeavor to eliminate inequalities in status, facilities and opportunities among individuals and the groups of people of India and every opportunity to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes should be provided to remove social inequality and economic empowerment given to secure equality of status and dignity of individual.

Article 46 enjoins the State to promote with special care, economic interest, in particular, of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes and shall protect them from social injustice.

Art. 335 mandates that the claims of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes shall be taken into consideration consistently with efficiency of administration in the making of appointment to services and posts in connection with the affairs of the Union and the State.

Even after fifty three years of independence the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes do not have proper representation in all the services under the State except class IV or class III services for variegated reasons. While Article 335 assures and given right to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes for being considered fastens fundamental duty on the State to secure adequate representation to them in all services and posts in all cadres, grades/categories of services under the State, the Supreme Court has by its Judgements, cut down its width.

In recent judgements of the Supreme Court of India in Indrasawhni Versus Union of India opined that reservation in specialised posts in engineering, medical, military etc. shall not be made.

In Ajit Singh-II case the Suprme Court held that the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes promoted to reserved quota posts shall not be entitled to seniority from the date of promotion till the erstwhile senior general candidates are promoted and the later catch up the former and gain seniority over him, depriving the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes officers seniority from the date of regular promotion as per service rules with attended benefits and denied lien on the post held by them. It was also held that the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes promotees have no fundamental right to promotion though Article 16(4A) guarantees such right while declaring the general candidates have that right to promotion as fundamental right impeding the phase of providing proper representation to Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes in all services and posts under the State. It was also held that the roster points in the lower cadre of the reserved candidates on promotion should not be delinked in Narisihman case and Telecommunication case, the Supreme Court opined that reservation in single post is violative of Article 14 of the Constitution.

In Ajit Singh-II case the Supreme Court had held that the facilities and opportunities in relaxed standards for consideration of the claims of the reserve candidates for appointment or promotion to a service or a post is illegal and the Department of Personnel purported implementation of the above judgements of the Supreme Court issued various orders nullifying the effective implementation of the reservation in the letter and spirit of the Constitutional mandate.

It has been the policy of the Government of India that reservation in services/posts under the Union of India etc. is one of the policies to provide equality of opportunity and of status, economic and social justice to the Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribes and the aforesaid judgements defeat the object of the Constitution and the policy of the State in securing proper and adequate representation to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes in various posts/offices/services in an establishment etc. defined under the Act.

After adopting liberal economy and private investment in Public Sector Undertaking, it has become corresponding necessity to provide opportunity of employment to the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes in the services/posts in the establishment covered by the Act.

With a view to remove the injustice being meted out to the Scheduled Caste and the Scheduled Tribes in implementation and enforcement of the policy of reservation in service etc. under the State, etc. this Bill is being proposed for being enacted.

THE STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The preamble of the Constitution assures equality of opportunity and of status, socio-economic justice to all the citizens of India, and due to practice of untouchability on the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes living in the inaccessible scheduled areas have been denied education and opportunity to higher education is lacking due to poverty and illiteracy.

Article 46 of the Constitution imposes a duty on the State to promote with special care the educational interest, in particular of the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes and shall protect them from social injustice.

Article 38 mandates the State that it shall strive to promote the welfare of the people by securing and protecting effective social order rendering socio-economic and political justice and shall inform all the instructions of national life and to endeavor to eliminate inequalities in status, facilities and opportunities among individuals as well as groups of people of India.

Article 51A(j) imposes fundamental duty on every citizen to strive towards excellence in all spheres of individual and collective activity so that the nation consistently rises to higher levels of endeavor and achievement.

Article 15(4) of the Constitution, notwithstanding Articles 15(1) and 14, empowers the State to make special provision for the social and educational advancement of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes.

It has been the policy of the Govt. of India and the State Govt. to provide, in implementation of the aforesaid Constitutional mandates, reservation in admissions in all educational institutions in all the courses of study, faculties and disciplines to the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes not only in humanities but in engineering, technical, medical, post-graduation, M.Phil, Ph.D., super-specialities and technical courses of study as well so that the every Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe educated youths have opportunity to improve intellectual, excellence and secure equality of status and dignity in the society. In Indersawhani case, the Supreme Court opined that reservation in technical, super-specialities and other advanced and specialised courses of study shall not be made for the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes and in Dr. Preeti Srivastava's case, the Supreme Court held that reservation in super-specialities in medical courses of study is not in the national interest and cannot be made and it directed the Medical Council of India to consider whether reservation for admission in post-graduation course of study would be provided to the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes and also in post-graduation centre in Chandigarh case, five Judges Bench of the Supreme Court held that clubbing of the single posts in post-graduation or in super-specialities is illegal. It was also held that relaxation of marks with disparity of 10 marks between general and reserved candidates for admission of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes to the extent of reserved seats as illegal.

The aforesaid judgements defeat the very object of the reservation policy, purpose and constitutional animation and deny opportunity to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes of education and deprive them to strive towards intellectual excellence in all spheres of their educational activities and to improve their cultural advancement.

With a view to effectively implementing the policy of reservation to the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes in admission to the seats at the prescribed percentage in all courses of study and in all faculties, disciplines, professional courses etc. and to relieve the hardship to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes from the afore-mentioned Judgements, the Constitution is being proposed to be amended through this Bill.

(ii) Clause (4A) shall be omitted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Preamble of the Constitution assures every citizen equality of status and of opportunity and secures justice—social and economic which has been declared in S.R. Bommai's case as basic structure of the Constitution.

Article 46 enjoins that the State shall promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections of the people and, in particular, of the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes, and shall protect them from social injustice;

Article 38 directs the State to secure social order for promotion of the welfare of the people by securing and protecting an effective social order in which social, economic and political justice shall inform all the institutions of national life and that the State, in particular, shall strive to minimise the inequalities in income and endeavour to eliminate inequalities in status, facilities and opportunities among individuals as well as groups of the people;

Article 51-A(h) imposes fundamental duty on every citizen to strive towards excellence in all spheres of individual and collective activity so that the nation constantly rises to higher levels of endeavour and achievement; even then the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes are the most disadvantaged and deprived weaker sections of the society;

The Constitution laid special emphasis and duty of the State to take care of them to minimise the inequalities in status, facilities and opportunities;

It is the fundamental duty of the State to effectively implement the above directives in the Constitution to enable the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes to reap social and economic justice, secure equality of opportunity and of status and to enjoy dignity of the person.

After the State adopted open economy, to increase the chances/avenues of appointment/promotion in Public Sector to the Scheduled Castes/Scheduled Tribes it is necessary to make an express provision in the Constitution and a separate Act in that behalf.

With a view to effectively implementing the above directives and to achieve the above objects, reservation in education and public services etc. as guaranteed in Articles 15, Article 29(2) and 16, are the two public policy programmes being implemented from the beginning of the Independence (August 15, 1947) and, in particular, after the Constitution came into force (26th January, 1950) as Constitutional duties.

Even after implementing the reservations since 50 years of the Constitution came into force, the Scheduled Castes/Scheduled Tribes do not have proper representation for variegated reasons in various posts or classes of post or in the services under the State or appointed in connection with the affairs of the Union of India and due to social, educational and economic backwardness and other disadvantages and disabilities, the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes are not able to compete on equal merit with the general category candidates;

The recent judgements of the Supreme Court in Inder Sawheny versus Union of India 1992 Supplement 3 SCC 217, Dr. Preeti Srivastava versus State of Madhya Pradesh 1999 7 SCC (page 120), and Ajit Singh & Others (II) versus State of Punjab IA 1-3 in Civil Appeal No. 3782-94 of 1999 etc. dated September 16, 1999 caused hindrance for the Government for effectively implementing the policy of reservation in imparting of education in all courses of study, in particular, at the stage of higher learning, specialities, super-specialities, technical, scientific courses, etc. and reservation in the posts/classes of posts in the services under the State or in the affairs of the State in particular at promotions and consequential seniority and in the Private Sector etc.

Therefore, with a view to give effect to the Constitutional objectives referred to above, duty of the State in that behalf, and to suitably remedy the defect pointed out by the judgements in the reservation policies, this Bill proposes to suitably amend the Constitution for the said purpose.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Sedimentation of rivers, dams, ports and seas is a natural process. The flowing waters of rivers continuously bring particles of rocks and clay while flowing from one place to other and layers of silt continues to be deposited at the bottom of the river, dam, port and sea which continues to raise their bottom levels in natural ways. When the silt hardens it raises the bottom but reduces the depth of the river, dam, port or sea. When the depth is reduced the river, dam, port or sea cannot carry extra water in them and the water level is raised to such an extent that water crosses their banks and starts flowing outside. Thus sedimentation or siltation of rivers is one of the main causes of floods in our country as the silt raises the bottom level of the rivers. If desiltation is carried out regularly floods can be contained to a great extent. At present a number of multi-purpose Dams are full with silt which is adversely affecting the power generation in the country.

It is a matter of serious concern that the Central as well as several State Governments have imported desiltation machinery and equipments from abroad or have also purchased them from domestic market but they are not using them at all. Either the irrigation departments do not have trained personnel for operating these machines or equipments or they deliberately do not use these equipments for desilting because floods give them rich dividends in the form of disbursing assistance to the affected ones. As a result these machines become junk in the course of time and the exchequer suffers heavy losses in both the ways. If desiltation is made compulsory and protection of indemnity is taken away from the responsible authorities, losses to the nation can be prevented both from the floods and turning the equipments into junk. At the same time those States who do not get the desiltation done within a time frame should not be given any assistance for combating floods. It will have a good effect on the negligent States.

Hence this Bill.

S. S. AHLUWALIA

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 4 of the Bill provides for compulsory desiltation of rivers and dams. Clause 5 provides that the Central Government shall provide machinery and knowhow for desiltation. Clause 8 provides that Central Government shall undertake desiltation of major ports. If enacted, the Bill will involve expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India. It is expected that a sum of rupees one hundred crores is likely to be incurred as recurring expenditure per annum from the Consolidated Fund of India.

A non recurring expenditure of rupees fifty lakhs per annum is also likely to be incurred.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 9 of the Bill gives power to the Central Government to make rules for carrying out the purposes of the Bill. The Rules will relate to matters of details only. The delegation of legislative power is of normal character.

X*BILL No. XLI OF 2000A Bill further to amend the Constitution of India*

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-first Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

Short title and commencement.

Amendment of article 214.

3. To article 214 of the Constitution the following proviso shall be added at the end, namely:—

“Provided that the President shall, within a period of two years from the commencement of the Constitution (Amendment) Act, 2000 set up benches and additional benches of High Court in each State keeping in view the area and population of each State and the cases pending in the High Court of such State.”

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Ours is the largest democracy in the world and wedded to the ideals of a welfare State. In the Preamble to the Constitution the people of the country have resolved to secure to all citizens justice,—social, economic and political. Thus the Constitution and various other laws protect the citizen's fundamental and other rights and also the right to seek legal redress to achieve the goals of a welfare State. However despite the laudable goals set out in the Constitution the arrears of cases pending before the Supreme Court and various High Courts are enormous.

Similar is the case with the lower courts. Millions of cases are lingering for years together therein. The citizens have to wait for years together, in some cases decades to get justice. It is said that "Justice delayed is justice denied". If this is true then in our country Justice is denied in almost every case because delayed Justice is routine in every case. Thus the arrears of cases in the courts and time consuming litigation is all set to defeat the ideals of welfare State in our country.

In such a grave situation in the judicial front and considering the vastness of the country, the poverty of its people, the high cost of litigation it is the need of the hour to consider measures to provide easy, quick, cheap and timely justice to the people. This is all the more important with regard to the people living in far flung rural areas who are away from the national and State capitals where Supreme Court and High Courts are located. This factor obviously denies the poor man to seek legal redress particularly in the Supreme Court and High Courts which involves considerable expenses and inconvenience. The agonies of a litigant travelling right from Madras, Thiruvananthapuram, Goa, Pondicherry or North Eastern part of the country to New Delhi to attend a case at Supreme Court can be imagined when he finds that his case only has been adjourned for the next date. He does not get justice even after travelling for days together spending lot of money, wasting lot of time, incurring losses if he runs a business establishment and loses his crops if he is a farmer even if he is affluent one. In some cases the litigation is prolonged to generations together.

Thus to mitigate the sufferings of poor litigant citizens it is felt that benches of the Supreme Court should be established at various places in the country particularly in the Eastern, North Eastern, Western and Southern parts of the country. Similarly more benches of High Courts should be established at easily accessible places. Such a step will certainly reduce the ever increasing number of pending cases in the Supreme Court and High Courts. It would also break the monopoly of expensive advocates of the Supreme Court and High Courts. It will be a step in the right direction to provide easy, quick, cheap and timely justice to the people and to achieve the goals of Welfare State.

Hence this Bill.

S. S. AHLUWALIA

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 2 of the Bill provides for setting up benches of Supreme Court, Clause 3 provides for setting up benches of High Courts in the States. In that case more judges have to be appointed which will incur expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India. It is estimated that an annual recurring expenditure of about rupees two crores is likely to be incurred from the Consolidated Fund of India.

A non-recurring expenditure of rupees three crores is also likely to be involved.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

There are crores of old farmers in the country and their number is increasing due to increase in the life expectancy of the people. Although the children of the farmers particularly their sons are expected to look after them in their old age and many of them in fact do so but in many cases the economic condition of the children is such that it is not possible for them to support the old parents. As a result the old farmers and their spouses at the fag end of their lives have to fend for themselves and are forced to lead a miserable life. It is so because they do not have a permanent source of income or they suffer from chronic ailment or infirmity. They live in hunger and are left uncared for. Being a welfare State, the Government is bound to provide social security to the farmers who produce foodgrains for the nation. Though some State Governments are giving old age pension to old persons including farmers but that is very meagre. It is felt that at least one thousand rupee be given as old age allowance to the farmers to enable them to maintain their living. This allowance should be revised with the rise in the price index. The Central Government has to bear the cost of implementation of the Bill since the financial condition of the States can not bear this burden.

Hence this Bill.

Clause 4 of the Bill provides that the Central Government shall provide funds for the implementation of the Bill. The Bill if enacted will involve expenditure from the consolidated Fund of India to the tune of one thousand crore rupee per annum as recurring expenditure.

No non recurring expenditure is likely to be involved.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Rate of population growth in the country has assumed alarming proportion. During the last five decades, the population of the country has increased by 3 times. India's population was 33 crores only in 1951 when India attained independence; it is over one hundred crore today. The average increase is over 1.5 crore per year.

This tremendous increase in population offsets all benefits of development that take place in the country. Therefore elementary essential services and basic facilities have not been provided to all the people residing in the country.

Crores of people are living in sub-human conditions in slums and most of them are seen defecating in the open. This abominable practice is leading to insanitary conditions which are the source of spreading bacteria and breeding germs adversely affecting the health and well-being of the people residing in the neighbourhood. Standard of living is reciprocal. Even if one is leading a very protected life, but if neighbourhood is dirty, he is bound to fall ill. That is so because germs are no respector of the status of the person whom they attack.

The problem of the increasing population adds to the problem of unemployment. The number of the unemployed in the country as registered in the employment exchanges are overwhelming; out of whom many lakhs are graduates. The number of the unemployed must be more on two counts. Firstly, not all the unemployed get themselves registered; and secondly, only persons upto the age of 25 years are registered in the employment exchanges as after that age, they are not eligible for government services. Moreover the crimes in the country particularly related to robberies and extortions, are increasing because the young employed are desperately in need of money to feed themselves.

Merely making people self-conscious about the need to have a small family has not produced the desired results of restricting the population growth. Hence, it has become imperative that a scheme of incentives and disincentives should be formulated in the form of an Act. This could help in restricting the population growth. Needless to emphasize that if the population is not controlled, the country is doomed to disaster. And if the population keeps on increasing, most metropolitan and big cities would become unliveable with multitudes of men and women moving about as if there were big railway platforms.

The unprecedented increase in population has made most cities run in two directions; authorized and unauthorized constructions because there is acute shortage of dwelling units. The result is that like the bad penny driving out the good penny, the unauthorized constructions are overtaking the authorized ones. This process has made the people anti-planning and even green areas are becoming a concrete jungle of haphazard and ugly growth. Unauthorised constructions have also led to corruption at all levels.

The Bill seeks to provide for different measures and methods for population control.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 8 provides that Government shall provide funds to the genuine NGOs to work in rural areas for family planning. The Bill if enacted will involve expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India. It is estimated that a sum of rupees ten crores may involve as recurring expenditure per annum.

No non-recurring expenditure will involve as all the measures suggested are of administrative nature and they are a part of the existing Governmental apparatus. Further the reward suggested for sterilization and giving Nirodh to men and Mala to women (Both contraceptives) free of cost are already a part of Government of India's family welfare programme.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 9 of the Bill empowers the Central Government to make rules for carrying out the provisions of the Bill. As the rules to be made will relate to matters of details only, the delegation of legislative power is of a normal character.
